FREE STAMP ALBUM PAGES?

Yes, they're available on the World Wide Web at: <http://www.stampalbums.com>. These album pages are available for anyone to freely download in Adobe Acrobat format. If you're not familiar with Adobe Acrobat files, they're specifically designed to work on virtually any computer (both PC and Mac), and to be printable with almost all printers (Laser, Ink-Jet, whatever). In other words, it's 98% certain that you'll be able to download and print out these album pages if you have a computer, printer and WWW connection.

There are a LOT of free album pages available - well over 6000 at last count, with more being added weekly. Pages for most of the "small" countries and colonies are currently available, plus many of the larger countries like the United States, Australia, Brazil, France, Germany, Netherlands, Venezuela, etc. And if the country(s) you need aren't available yet, they will be in the future. This website will eventually have pages for all, or virtually all, countries worldwide.

There are no tricks or surprises at this website - the pages really are there for you to download for free. Check it out, if you've got a computer. If you don't, ask one of your "nerd" friends to check it out for you. You just might be able to spend more of your stamps budget on actual stamps, instead of overpriced album pages.
